DEFIANT TO THE LAST.

Socialism defies defiance at the courts, law, order and common decency in nominating Eugene Dohs for its banner bearer for president of the United States. Regardless of the fact that the convict could not under any possible circumstances be elected or, if elected, would be for the office, the party high honors the name of this lawbreaker and preacher of sedition, delights in parading the choice before the American people. Thousands of well-meaning citizens have espoused the principles of the Socialist party for the reason they believed the honest meant the better representation of the proletariat in the administration of laws and they wished to be with the party that they thought could solve the troublesome economic problems of the generation. These honest people will have to decide what course they wish to pursue in the future for, if they remain identified with the lawless element which appears to control the party, they must take the consequences of being regarded with suspicion by all law-abiding people. If they are going to allow their names to be used for boosting the convict of Atlanta prison they cannot take umbrage at any reflections on their loyalty. When the New York legislature threw out the names of the Socialists who were returned to that body for the alleged reason that they could not be trusted to their duties of office while retaining membership in the Socialist party, there was some murmuring at the action which in many cases was denounced as an arbitrary exercise of constitutional power. However, now that the party has torn off the mask and nominated for leadership, a man who has been adjudged guilty of the great crime of sedition and disloyalty, the members have alienated all sympathy by placing themselves on the same platform with their leader. If the principal in the conspiracy to encompass defeat of the United States in the war with European despotism is deserving of incarceration, his sympathizers should be forced to join him that they may have ample time to study the difference between 100 per cent Americanism and rotten pretensions which should not be tolerated in the presence of free people.

WILSON WITH THE GRAPERS.

The act of the President in vetoing the bill designed to end the perennial raids on the treasury in the guise of public printing will react on the Democratic party when it comes to an issue in the election. Through investigations conducted by Senator Smoot it was disclosed that without further jurisdiction Congress was powerless to check the enormous outlay of the bureaucrats for printing. To offset this drain on the treasury and to save the taxpayers millions of dollars a year the committee reporting the legislative, judicial and executive bill, interpolated a clause stipulating that all printing had to be done by order of Congress. This eliminated the bureau chiefs and the measure met with universal approval. There was no partisan issue and the only object sought by the Republicans was retrenchment to help bring the country back to its normality in expenditures. While the cost of the printing ran into millions it was only an incident for consideration as the main objective was to dispense with the services of several thousand employees who were kept on the public payrolls for no other reason than that they might continue to send forth this drivel from the public printer. This is the second issue at stake. The third and one of vital importance was to effect a saving in the consumption of white paper which has reached such an acute stage that hundreds of small papers have been compelled to suspend publication and every metropolitan publication has had to abridge its advertising in order to keep within the visible supply of print paper. There is no imaginary grievance about this condition as, according to reports from Washington, it is suggested that the only way to increase the supply of white paper is to bring pressure against the Canadian manufacturers by placing an embargo on shipments of coal from the United States until such time as Canada chooses to relent and furnish this country with a greater proportion of paper pulp or white paper. The veto of the president is a challenge to every taxpayer in the country who favors economy in administration circles by cutting expenses to the bone. Mr. Wilson exercises his veto for the alleged reason that he thinks the bill will usurp his functions and therefore deprive him of a patronage that is valuable at election time. It does not enter into his consideration that the country is groaning under an appalling burden of taxes and that the wheels of industry are clogged by the shackles applied in an effort to impose fresh loads on patient producers. Had the president qualified his veto by endorsing the stand of Congress in shouldering retrenchment and then suggesting a way of carrying out the programme without impinging on his fancied prerogative there would be an element for consideration. But, as he simply drew his pen across the bill by writing the word veto he must take the consequences of having to explain his act and other extravagances to the country at large when he and his henchmen try to put across the league of nations.

MEMORIAL DAY SENTIMENTS.

With the fast approach of the great war anniversary dedicated to the veterans of the blue and grey who fought for their principles sixty years ago it is timely to recall the fact that the younger generation of veterans are a living breathing entity in our midst. The junior defenders of the flag who wore the khaki through the sanguinary fields of France and Belgium are before the nation today in a movement to bring every former service man into their organization for the purpose of solidifying the loyal sentiments of the war and creating a patriotic vertebrae that will stand by the principles of our forefathers when any one dare raise the issue of dividing the nation into factions or classes. The big drive is on and the appeal is made to every soldier, sailor or marine who served during the recent crisis to investigate the constitution and objects of the American Legion with the desire of joining in the movement for this crystallizing of thought for mutual good.

NEW AUSTIN ROAD OPEN TO CARS

On Tuesday the Reveille represents live, through the kindness of Mr. Cross engineer in charge, was taken over the route of the new road over the summit.

The new route, beginning at the eastern line of Austin commences its climb winding about the sides of the canyons on the southern slope of Lander Hill until the necessary altitude is reached and then starts eastward on as nearly an air line as the contour of the country will permit. It reminds one of the actions of a flock of pelicans starting on a journey of flight and zigzagging, but steadily rising they reach a point away up in the sky, and then set their wings and sail away for their destination.

The eastern half of the road, beginning at Lander creek and continuing to the point where the new road joins the old Nevada road at the edge of Smoky valley is nearly ready to be thrown open for travel. About a week more will see autos coming west from Smoky valley over the second summit in high gear, and traveling little if any further than is now customary by the old route through the canyon up and down a series of steep grades and around short bends.

The steepest grade on the new road will not be greater than six per cent and the shortest curve will have a radius of not less than 75 feet.

The new survey, running along the ridge from a point between the Scott and Myers places will be much easier built than the original line down the canyon, besides being easier to keep open in winter and to maintain.

After the trees and brush are taken off, the crown will be thrown up and the gutters made with the grader, and with a drain pipe here and there the section will be completed.

It was originally estimated that from the point where the new survey leaves the old one to the eastern end the cost would be $16,000. The construction of the new section will cost $6,000, a neat little sum being thus saved.—Reese River Reveille.
